

“Epiphany”

It's so strange, and I only get it now
I'm unable to bear this storm
I just can't bear the storm in my heart
The storm that is blinding me
It blinds me and doesn't let me see
It takes me into the dark
Is it time?
Is it time when I get out of here?
Is time when I am born in the sky?

I am trembling with fear and am scared
I want to sleep
Who is stopping me?
What scares you so much?
Why are you there?
Why are you hiding?
Why am I hiding in this storm?

I am trembling with fear and can't no more
I want to go ahead
Who is stopping me?
I want to wake you up from this dream
The dream that now is and always will be a dream
Why are you hiding in the darkness?
Why are you hiding your worth?
Why are you breaking the home of your feelings?
The rupture is a tear
It falls from my eyes without me even noticing
Fall the stories I haven't told yet
The feelings are on the ground
They're broken.

I am trembling with fear and I regret
I want to let go
But who is stopping me?
Your bright shadow.

I am trembling with fear and can't no more
I want to escape
But who is stopping me?

My precious soul
I glimpse the end with no hard feelings
With no resentment
The dream is over.

I finally open my eyes
Now I'm different
I reveal myself
I reveal my true self
The one behind this mask.

I want to love, in this world
My bright anima, my precious soul.

I finally open my eyes
I am the one I should love.

I am alive
I am the one I want to love.
